The Jagmandir Temple

Built on the Jag Mandir Island, about 800 m south of Jagniwas, this three-storeyed palace was built by Maharana Karan Singh II in 1620 and later completed by his son. Built in yellow sandstone and marble, it is said the king built it as a hiding place for Mughal emperor Shah Jahan, before he ascended the throne.

The most attractive place in Udaipur is the Sajjangarh Monsoon Palace.

The history of the palace reflects the history of the Mewar kingdom. Maharana Sajjan Singh, (b. 18 July 1859 d. 23 December 1884), the initial builder of the Monsoon Palace was the seventy-second ruler of the Mewar dynasty (1874–1884) and ruled from Udaipur for a short period of 10 years until his untimely death.

DEVELOPMENT 16 March 2023

The most attractive place in Udaipur is the Sajjangarh Monsoon Palace.

Google has been investing in AI for many years and bringing its benefits to individuals, businesses and communities. Whether it's publishing state-of-the-art research, building helpful products or developing tools and resources that enable others, we're committed to making AI accessible to everyone.

We're now at a pivotal moment in our AI journey. Breakthroughs in generative AI are fundamentally changing how people interact with technology — and at Google, we've been responsibly developing large language models so we can safely bring them to our products. Today, we're excited to share our early progress. Developers and businesses can now try new APIs and products that make it easy, safe and scalable to start building with Google's best AI models through Google Cloud and a new prototyping environment called MakerSuite. And in Google Workspace, we're introducing new features that help people harness the power of generative AI to create, connect and collaborate.

"People worry that will get too smart and take over the world, but the real problem is that they're too stupid and they've already taken over the world."

— Pedro Domingos

More than 3 billion people already benefit from AI-powered features in Google Workspace, whether it's using Smart Compose in Gmail or auto-generated summaries in Google Docs. Now, we're excited to take the next step and bring a limited set of trusted testers a new set of features that makes the process of writing even easier. In Gmail and Google Docs, you can simply type in a topic you'd like to write about, and a draft will be instantly generated for you. So if you're a manager onboarding a new employee, Workspace saves you the time and effort involved in writing that first welcome email. From there, you can elaborate upon or abbreviate the message or adjust the tone to be more playful or professional — all in just a few clicks. We'll be rolling out these new experiences to testers in the coming weeks.

We're so excited by the potential of generative AI, and the opportunities it will unlock — from helping people express themselves creatively, to helping developers build brand new types of applications, to transforming how businesses and governments engage their customers and constituents. Stay tuned for more to come in the weeks and months ahead.
